Concrete business owner firm on stance that P&H should fix road

SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Lennie Farris, owner of Farris Concrete Pumping and a tenant at the light industrial park located at International Airport is not happy with the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. brought attorney Michael D. Haas, Jr. with him to Monday's recessed meeting to make sure Commissioners knew just how unhappy he is.

Ferris said that road standards were misrepresented when he recently bought property at the park. He said that when he paid the Port $60,000 for the approximately acre and a half of land, that it was with the understanding that the road where the property was located was built to state load standards. It was stated as much on the Port's official website and in the brochure's, said

A check of the website found that most of the airport site was under construction on Wednesday, but the main page stated, "The airpark's main access road is 24 feet wide and all roads are designed for the state weight limit." The state weight limit is 80,000

Farris said Port and Harbor officials recommended the site as the best location for his business. Farris owns about seven of the month to enable him access to the $200,000 plus building nearing completion Philips currently holds the at the site.

Port and Harbor officials say that the road to Ferris' property was in fine condition until contractors hauling in fill to the site tore up the road with trucks that were too heavy and too for the road. Commission president David McDonald said he has witnessed the trucks tearing up the road.

Farris said that the road, which consisted of about three inches of asphalt laid on the road without any base, would never have supported the weight of his trucks anyway. Director Hal Walters said that the port wants to work with Ferris to resolve the problem, but that the $85,000 it would cost to reasphalt the road to state standards is not available right now. Deputy director Greg Deakle said that temporary solution could cost much less. For about $12,000 crushed limestone with a sturdy base of sand and geotech fabric could be laid on the road, he said

Ferris said he could work with the temporary solution , but only if Commissioners could give him a firm date to finish the work.

"It could be a year and it could be five years, we can't give you a definite time." said one Commissioner during a heated debate in which Farris' attorney Haas said he had advised his client against doing business with the Commission.

Talks to find a solution to the road problem will continue at a committee meeting next week. In other business:

Phillips's Aviation Gene Phillips owner appeared with attorney Zach Butterworth to ask the Commission for an option to renew his three year lease on hanger space. Phillips' said he needed confirmation on the option before the end 55,000 to 57,000 pound to place a bid for a governtrucks which would need ment fuel contract on the field at Stennis Airport. contract on the field and has done business at the airport for close to fifteen years. Commissioners said they would discuss the renewal option at a meeting next week and give Phillips's and answer at the July 28 regular meeting.

• Commissioners yoted to accept a bid from Samuel B. Day Construction, Inc. in the amount of $960,000 on the new technology building at Stennis Airport.

regards to the Bay St. Louis annexation article that appeared recently and in regards to the annexation process, in general.

First of all, let me state that I am not totally opposed to the annexation as long as it benefits all concerned. However, this articles raised a few questions that need to be addressed.

According to the article, the annexed area would produce about $650,000 in annual property taxes, $140,000 each year in franchise fees and about $180,000 a year in sales tax. This totals $970,000. Projected annual costs of increasing police force, fire protection, and public works equals $950,000 annually. This would increase revenue of only $20,000 per year. All of this in anticipation of future development?

As for insurance rates going down, I would like to

This letter is in state that a great deal of this area of proposed annexation is in a flood zone. I don't anticipate the National Flood Insurance rating decreasing for this area. How many businesses would risk developing in low lying areas? Sure, the I-10 area has potential for business expansion, but until a commitment in writing is made by companies, then area is still just potential.

It is also my understanding that car tags would increase for people in the proposed area. County services already beginning installation of fire hydrants and garbage pick up and utility services are being provided for monthly fees.

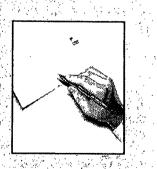

I would propose that city officials, publish the facts and let the people decide, perhaps by vote. It doesn't make sense that five or six people should decide what's best for 4,000 peo-

Members of the Supreme Court are scheduled to visit each of the four Legal Services administrative offices this week and next to present checks. The justices are visiting the Legal Services offices to call attention to their need for funding. The schedule of visits is as follows:

 Hattiesburg, Southeast Mississippi Legal Services Monday, July 21, 10 a.m., 111 East Front St. Chief Justice Pittman is scheduled to visit the office and present a check.

operated under the direc- services to low income peotion of the Mississippi Bar, allows callers to get basic attorney at no charge. The program fields about 12,000 calls a year, said Phyllis Thornton, director of the Mississippi Volunteer Lawyer Project. Legislation enacted this year allows ple, Gov. Ronnie Musgrove on March 25 legal information from an signed legislation which created the Civil Legal Assistance Fund. Senate Bill 2543, introduced by Sen. Gloria Williamson of Philadelphia, designated the Supreme Court to administer the funds through the Administrative Office of Courts.

Civil Legal Assistance Fund is authorized to accept monies from any public or private source. Pittman encourages others to add their support. "Anybody that wants to contribute to this fund may do so," Pittman said.

The Supreme Court on Jan. 16, 2003, amended its rules regulating the practice of law in Mississippi by attorneys licensed in other states. One amendment to the rule for pro hac vice appearances requires that out of state lawyers pay a $200 fee to be used for civil legal representation for the poor. The rule changes went into effect March 1. From March through June, more than 400 lawyers registered to participate as counsel pro hac vice, generating more than $66,000 for indigent civil representation.

The Supreme Court designated the money collected from pro hac vice registration to be distributed to the Legal Services offices and the Mississippi Volunteer Lawyer Project Legal Line.

The money is expected to be distributed based on each Legal Services office's percentage of the eligible poverty population. The 19 counties covered by Central Southwest Mississippi Legal Services account for 27 percent of the state's population living at or below the poverty level.

Southeast Mississippi Legal Services, whose service area includes 19 percent of the state's poverty population, is expected to receive $9,880. It has offices in Hattiesburg, Laurel and Meridian.

South Mississippi Legal Services, whose service area includes 12 percent of the state's poverty population, is expected to receive $6,240. It has offices in Biloxi and Pascagoula.

Cuts in federal funding mean some of the Legal Services branch offices may close as the organizations struggle to continue to provide services.

Robinson said expects Central Southwest Mississippi Legal Services to close its two fully staffed offices in Natchez and Vicksburg, Robinson said she is seeking cheaper or free office space to keep a intake staff in both cities, but lawyers will have to divide their time between those satellite offices and the service area's other two offices in Jackson and McComb. Robinson said it's important to keep a presence in Natchez and Vicksburg because poor people who qualify for Legal Services assistance often lack transportation.

A day earlier the same group had been attacked when the bus came into Montgomery, AL, for the same purpose it came to Mississippi: to test the segregated waiting rooms supposed desegregated a week previously by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Although Sonny had no idea at the time, somewhat remarkably one of the black riders who piled off the bus in Jackson was John Lewis of Atlanta, soon to become a top figure in the civil rights movement. A few years later, Lewis would become one of Montgomery's U.S. House colleagues, friend, and fellow Democrat.

A second Freedom Rider on the same bus, Bob Filner, then a 19-year-old Ivy Leaguer, would also later land in the U.S. House and become a member of

Back home in Mississippi after the war, Montgomery renewed his long association with the Mississippi National Guard, eventually rising to the rank of Major General in the Guard before his retirement in 1981.

One of his regrets, Sonny relates in his book, is that he remained a bachelor. Certainly he had no shortage of high-profile lady friends along the way, among them the present U.S. Sen. Elizabeth Dole, wife of former Kansas Sen. Bob Dole, who in 1996 was the GOP presidential standard-bearer.

funds. How about installing parking meters in downtown areas, pursuing a group to operate multilevel parking garage, or increase hotel room rates to include a city tax on each room.

What about actively pursuing companies to operate from the Alcan building or other vacant buildings in the city. Perhaps creating one or two festivals per year, drawing crowds to the downtown areas. Just a few things to think about.

The horses tested positive for EEE and a bird tested positive for West Nile virus through Mississippi State Department of Health routine surveillance.

The Mississippi State Department of Health remains on the lookout for West Nile virus and other arboviruses that mosquitoes can transmit to humans.

"The identification of West Nile virus and EEE in horses, birds and mosquitoes is a reminder that we all need to take proper precautions," said Dr. Sally Slavinski, an epidemiologist with the Mississippi State Department off health. "Mosquito-borne viruses are identified every year in Mississippi and active surveillance helps us identify where the viruses are located. To date, no human case of West Nile virus has been reported in Mississippi."

Most West encephalitis infection are mild. Symptoms include fever, headache, and body aches, occasionally with skin rash and swollen lymph glands.

Public health officials advise all Mississippians to "Fight the Bite" and to take standard precautions in preventing or avoiding mosquito bites.

Such protective and preventive measures include: areas, especially at night when mosquito activity is highest; wearing protective clothing when going into use insect repellents that contain DEET on exposed body parts when outdoors.

Last year, Mississippi experienced one of the largest outbreaks of WNV documented. In ever Mississippi alone, 193 cases were reported, resulting in 12 deaths. Nationwide there were over 4,000 cases and 294 deaths.

The public can call Health Info at 1-800-489-7670 or the West Nile virus toll-free hotline at 1-877-WST-NILE for more information on mosquito-borne illnesses.

Area high-school students gain appreciation for science in summer course at USM

BY CHRISTOPHER MAPP

nlike most highs school students, Marlon Blake has had his eye on a career in science for some time. In fact, a job in meteorology has been on his radar since he was just 12 years old.

"I want to start out as a meteorologist," Blake said, pointing to a satellite photo showing the eye of a swirling hurricane. "Then I hunter."

Blake, a sophomore from Hattiesburg High, was one of 20 students from the Hattiesburg/Petal school districts participating in a science career fair at The University of Southern Mississippi on Friday.

The students and five high school teachers are part of a six-week summer SCIENCE/Literacy gram funded Science National Foundation. Upon completion of the course, students receive $1,000.

"Continuously declining enrollment of high school students in the science areas has become a critical national concern," said Dr. Dana Thames, chair of the Southern Miss Department Curriculum Instruction.

"The goals of this program are to provide handson, individualized and critical-thinking instruction to high school students in an effort to promote interest, encouragement, appreciation, and improved confidence toward the sciences."

Although the six-week course is research intensive, offering ample time for laboratory projects, it also focuses heavily on science literacy. Each morning, students begin the day by reading scientific articles and then applying those concepts in experiments throughout the day. One example of that practical application was a laboratory experiment that required the students to make applesauce out of crackers and other common ingredients. "We added

> Nicole McWright, a biology and chemistry teacher from Hancock High School, participated in the program for the first time this summer, working with students in the morning and then doing research projects with Dr. Morgan in the afternoon.

McWright said the course shows students how science affects almost every area of life. "Not a lot of students realize how things like polymer science apply to them, but this program really gets them excited about science," she said.

Top members of the Southern Miss administration, including President Dr. Shelby Thames and Gulf Coast Provost Dr. Jay Grimes, took time out Friday to attend the science career fair.

Standing in front of backdrops with photos, figures and information, stupresented their research on all aspects of their chosen scientific profession.

"This is good because it prepares them for their field and what they're going to encounter as a professional," said Grimes, whose own research background is in marine sci-

"If they go to a meeting, or share reports, talking about science is part of the whole process.

A polymer scientist himself. President Thames mingled with the students and talked to them enthusiastically about their science projects. "So many things have changed in science in the last 5-15 years,' President Thames said. "Without contemporary programs like this, some students would never know what options are out there.'

Live oaks bring community together in Pearlington

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Urban Forest Council recently presented the 2003 Celebration of Trees award to Hancock County. "We wanted to make sure that the trees in the Cemetery Pearlington would continue to provide solace and peacefulness, continue to be a symbol of this town," said Hancock County Supervisor Rocky Pullman, "and that these magnificent giants would over  $\operatorname{stand}$ watch Pearlington, And one day we looked up at the trees and realized that they needed our help." The trees that Pullman Supervisor referred to are a grove of live oak trees planted in the Pearlington Cemetery sometime in the 19th century. Many of the trees are nearly two-hundred years

"It was about eighteen months after Hurricane Georges that people first started noticing that the trees were in some distress. And truthfully, we really never tied the problems to the storm, until people started asking questions," said Pullman. An arborist assessed the trees and determined wind damage from the storm, as well as wind blown salt water had caused damage to the trees, and suggested immediate maintenance and the establishment of a regular afterstorm routine.

Pearlington is one of the oldest communities in Hancock County, first as a settlement for Native Americans who fished the waters, and later the town became an important industrial community serving the regional forestry industry.

"Through a Mississippi Forestry Commission Urban Challenge Grant we were able to bring an arborist on board to assess the trees and to provide a workshop for people on maintaining the live oaks", Pullman. Challenge Grant helped us insure that the Cemetery Live Oaks would survive and thrive, preserving the beauty of this location. Through the grant, we also provided outreach to the people about the maintenance needs of the live oaks; we did this by including people in the actual maintenance of the oaks. But something more important came from this effort. The interest brought the community together."

Pullman refers to efforts by the people in the town to

"We felt compelled to insure the longevity and the health of these live oak trees-which symbolize this town. In return, we knew these trees would continue to be a source of inspiration for the community and every individual Pearlington. How can you not look up into these oaks and not feel inspired by their grace, their beauty and their greatness," said

historic Pearlington Cemetery. After the maintenance of the live oaks was completed, people from the town, young and old, united to maintain the cemetery. One of the first actions was to dismantle a fence dividing the white cemetery from the black cemetery plots. And the residents of Pearlington are committed to preserving the beautiful, inspirational and historic cemetery.

Edward Jones ranks high as advocate for customers

dward Jones is among the best allong advocates for its customers, according to a recently released national research study of U.S. financial-services firms.

Edward Jones, the highbrokerage est-ranking named on the list, placed second in the customer advocacy ranking released

July 9 by Forrester Research, an independent research company that identifies and analyzes trends in technology and their impact on business.

"Winning the The Financial Changing Consumer" study found that "customer advocacy (was) touted as (the) primary attribute in driving retention and satisfaction of financial consumers." In the report, customer advocacy is defined as offering products and services "that are best for the customer, not just for the firm's bottom line.'

"Doing what's right for the customer is our guiding culture plays an important principle," said John W. role in how a firm is graded ner of Edward Jones. "We deliver one-on-one service to serious, long-term, individual investors to help them achieve their financial goals,"

Edward Jones does not offer aggressive investment products like options, commodities or penny stocks, nor does the firm sell its own line of proprietary products. The report praises Edward Jones for imposing "strict discipline on transactions like margin and options trading,"

Forrester Research since 1997 surveyed nearly 1 million U.S. consumers to identify their primary provider of investment products and then asked a variety of questions to assess how well they trusted their firm.

Three factors distinguish the financial-services firms that fall into the leader category, according to the report. "A cohesive company

The firm's strong culture and values of putting the client first, respecting history, values and culture and working in partnership to achieve results enable its associates to focus clearly on its objective of serving the individual investor. "Secondly, firms that do business with many consumers directly receive higher marks for customer advocacy," the report continues. "Those firms that rely an brokers and agents should invest heavily in training, so that customers are offered products and guidance that serves their best interests."

Firms that rely on technology to serve their clients, beat interests score high on the customer advocacy scale as well, the report said.

Recognized by Training Magazine for its extensive training program, Edward Jones spends 3 percent of its payroll on associate training. "Edward Jones, for example, spends more on training its investment reps than any other firm in the industry," the Forrester report said. The firm invests between $75,000 and $200,000 in training its now investment representatives.

Goodwill receives accrediation for excellence

South Mississippi was informed on July 10th that it had been accredited by CARF (Commission on Accreditation Rehabilitation Facilities) for a period of three years services:  $\mathbf{two}$ Employment Services and Development Employee Services. Three years is the maximum accreditation period possible.

The mission of CARF is to promote the quality, value, and optimal outcomes of services through a consultative accreditation process that centers on enhancing the lives of the persons served. CARF'S accreditation, research, and educational activities are conducted in accordance  $\mathbf{with}$ utmost integrity and the following core values:

All people have the right to be treated with dignity and respect.

All people should have access to needed services that achieve optimal outcomes.

All people should be empowered to exercise informed choice.

Shrimp landings good this season, experts say

BY BONNIE COBLENTZ MSU Ag

Communications

Mississippi's shrimp season has been on-again, offagain because of rain, but landings to date have been

Dave Burrage, Extension professor of marine resources at Mississippi State University's Coastal Research and Extension Center, said Biloxi saw about 1.4 million pounds of shrimp landed the first two weeks of the season. The shrimp season opened June 10, closed June 20, then the western portion reopened June 28.

"We did about the same production for the first two weeks of the season with landings in Biloxi as we did last year," Burrage said. "We had production in some larger size categories that we didn't have last year. which has been good for the fishermen."

Shrimp sizes are determined by how many shrimp are needed to make a pound. This year, most of the shrimp landed are in the classes of 36-40 shrimp per pound or 41-50 per pound. However,

The sheriff's department received a call at approximately 8:30 p.m. Sunday,

Hurt said, adding Deputy Jason Chandler was the first officer to arrive at the some shrimp in the larger sold to the factories. 21-25 and 16-20 size classes are being caught.

Larger shrimp bring higher prices, but price is keeping this season from being a success.

Burrage said 36-40 shrimp bring $1.25 a pound this year at the factories, and slightly smaller 41-50 shrimp sell for $1.15. Both sizes sold for about 50 cents more per pound in 2002.

Shrimpers are finding that prices for the larger shrimp are much better if they remove the shrimp's heads before selling them to factories. Size 21-25 tailsonly shrimp bring $4.40 a pound at the factory, and the tails-only size 16-20 shrimp sell for $5.25 a pound. Both sizes would bring only about $2 per pound if sold heads-on to the factory.

"At that price, you can land those as tails and get a pretty good premium for taking the time to head them on the boat," Burrage

Those fishermen who are able to sell their night's catch off the dock directly to the public can earn about $1 a pound more than if they

"The day boats are doing well," Burrage said. "They go out at night and shrimp, then sell off the dock in the morning for a premium. Boats that go out and catch 200 to 300 pounds a night can do that, but the larger boats can't and just have to take what the factory gives."

Other than prices being so low, shrimpers are contending with obstructions on the sea floor raised or deposited by Tropical Storm Bill in late June.

The eastern Mississippi Sound remains closed because excess rainfall in June washed juvenile shrimp out of the marshes. Shrimp must be size 68 before they can legally be caught, and the Department of Marine Resources samples daily to determine. when the shrimp reach this

FORT MASSACHUSETTS, WEST SHIP ISLAND

Ship Island has played an important role in the history and settlement of the Gulf Coast. Named in 1699 by French explorers for its deep-water anchorage, the island soon became an important port for French Louisiana. During the War of 1812, 60 British ships, with nearly 10,000 troops, rendezvoused at the island prior to their unsuccessful attempt to capture New Orleans. In 1862 Admiral David Farragut's Union invasion fleet used Ship Island as a staging area to capture New Orleans and Mobile.

An excursion to Ship Island is consistently rated by locals and visitors as the coast's premier waterborne experience. # Blast in the Bay

Classic car show raises nearly $3,000 for Bay F.D.'s 'Doll & Toy Fund'

Echo staff photos by Geoff Belcher

Automobile-enthusiasts showed up from as far away as Illinois Saturday for the sixth annual Blast in the Bay, the annual classic and street rod car show to benefit the Bay St. Louis Fire Department's Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund. Assistant Fire Chief Gary Maurice, who helped organize the event, said the show raised more than $2,900 for the fund, which is used to purchase toys for local deserving children each Christmas.

The show was sponsored by the Bay F.D. and Champion Dodge, Chrysler, Jeep. The Misfits Street Krewzers classic car club helped host the event. Barry Richardson and Cartunes provided music.

Maurice said city and fire department employees, including Barbara Redding, Sandra Day, Linda Gavagnie, Alea Asumer and several firefighters were instrumental in making the Blast in the Bay the success it was.

You can still make a tax-deductible donation to the Doll and Toy fund. Call 467-4736, or send checks to:

Southern Delights has some of the most delicious specialty dishes such as the snapper, the grilled tuna or the stuffed crab platter. A very popular dish is Favre's own seafood medley: perfectly prepared marinara laced with shrimp, crawfish and crab served over pasta. The fried seafood plates are generous, especially the Seafood Platter. It consists of catfish, shrimp, oysters and frog legs, delicately fried to a golden brown, delicious! # Be prepared in case of snakebite

BY JAMES L. CUMMINS allow your little finger to Almost everything surrounding a snakebite is controversial. According to Dr. Bill McKell, "I have seen it alluded on more than one occasion that 'a sober person, properly clothed. behaving sensibly, is almost never bitten.' I venture to presume that a percentage of the 45,000 snakebite victims each year in the U.S. would refute this."

Dr. McKell has several suggestions about what we should and should not do for the victim in the field. They are as follows:

1. Make sure the victim is away from the snake and out of danger of additional bites. If it can be accomplished quickly and safely, kill the snake for identification. Remember that completely severed heads can still inflict bites and inject venom.

2. Arrange for transportation to a hospital Emergency Room as soon as possible. Keep the victim calm and still. Do not give him or her alcohol, for it dilates blood vessels and enhances the spread of venom. If possible, have the victim lie flat with the bitten limb at the same level as the heart. Remove rings and other constricting jew-

"Tourniquets" are out. It is almost universally recommended that one apply a large "constricting band" at a level between the bite site and the heart. Taking care not to constrict arterial slip under it. Don't remove the band until antivenin is administered or decided against.

4. Incision and suction are no longer recommend-

5. Do not use ice or electric shock.

6. Prophylactic antibiotics are frequently given, but are of little benefit. If tetanus immunization isn't current, this should be recti-

7. Antivenin: The only product approved by the Food Drug and Administration is associated with 10-25% rate of immediate allergic reactions and an almost universal experience of delayed allergic reactions. For this reason, the routine use of antivenin for all pit viper bites is not recommended. Though each case should be individually assessed, rattlesnake bites in children will usually be treated and patients with copperhead bites will generally not be given antivenin therapy. One must remember, however, that up to 30% of pit viper bites are "dry", meaning that no venom was injected and, therefore, no further treatment indicat-

The Ocean Springs Greyhounds defeated the Bay High Tigers 28-21 in a 7-on-7 football game on Thursday, July 10.

Antonio Hawkins scored twice for the Tigers while Lorenzo Lewis broke free for the other score. Zack Ferry tossed two scores and Corbin Blaize threw the third strike. Bay High head coach Glenn Williams stated, "This experience has been a good one for our players this summer. It has allowed the older guys to work on their timing and patterns while the younger players have been able to get some solid snaps in before summer drills." The Tigers will complete their summer workouts with a team camp at Mississippi State on July 26-27. There are 60-70 teams expected to be present at the Bulldogs' 7-on-7 camp this summer. The Tigers will begin summer practice on August 4th.

July 10, 1953 - In an agreement that does not apply to Hancock County in general, but only to the area around the Pearl River-Hancock County line, District Attorney Boyce Holleman and juke operators near the line agreed upon a curfew restriction last week.

An establishment closes on Sunday, all day, open at 9 a.m. and close at 11 p.m. on weekdays and open 9 a.m. and close at midnight on Saturday. Last week at Justice of the Peace Court held in Aaron Academy school, juke operators are reported to have sought Holleman's advice. Am employ of one club, reported on the stand that the night

Holleman said, "I think that padlocking procedures can be avoided; but if the clubs based along the Pearl River-Hancock County line fail to cooperate, I can and will resort to other means." # It's hurricane season: The best thing you can do is be prepared

PLAN OF ACTION With the approach of a hurricane, interruptions of electric service are likely to occur. Mississippi Power crews will try to maintain service during the storm while it's safe for employees to work. After the storm passes, an extensive plan for restoring power to vital community services and all customers is in place. If needed, crews from neighboring utilities will be on call. Once the storm passes, updated information about restoration will be provided to various local media out-

REPORTING POWER OUTAGES Mississippi Power has an automated telephone power outage system and numerous telephone operators on duty to take calls from customers. If the lines are busy, continue trying. Line crews will work as long as it is safe to do so, but when storm conditions become dangerous it will be necessary for crews to be called in. If electric service is interrupted during the height of the storm, please do not call Mississippi Power at that time. Wait a reasonable time after the winds have subsided before reporting your trouble.

PRECAUTIONS If you see a broken or burning wire, stay away and call Mississippi Power or local authorities. Warn others to keep clear of the fallen line and avoid contact with trees, fences or anything else the line may be touching. If a power line comes in contact with a vehicle, passengers should stay in the vehicle until crews arrive and confirm the line is deenergized.

FREEZER CARE Prior to a storm, freezers and refrigerators should be turned to their coldest settings. The more frozen food there is in a freezer, the longer it will remain frozen. AFTER STORM RESTORATION PLANS If there is extensive damage to the electric system, electricity in some areas may not be restored for several days. Customers are asked to be patient. Crews will work as quickly as possible to restore service. If necessary, Mississippi Power workers will be aided by crews from other utilities.

In order to satisfy the needs of the greatest number of people, electric service will be restored on a priority basis. Where possible. electric power will initially be restored to hospitals, law enforcement and other emergency facilities, public service facilities, sewerage systems, water works, and news media organizations. Main power lines from substations will be cleared and repaired, which will restore power to the maximum number of customers. After that, repair crews will go block-by-block, street-bystreet and home-by-home to restore individual service.

Mississippi Power asks its customers to please be patient and know that crews are working a plan of action to restore the greatest number of customers in the shortest possible time. Please do not make attempts to have line crews respond to individual requests, as it will only delay the overall restoration process.

REPORTING OUTAGES After the passage of the hurricane, customers should replace any blown fuses or reset any tripped breakers. If the line connecting the house to the distribution pole is damaged, call to report an outage. If an entire neighborhood is without power, call once and then monitor news reports follow restoration progress. Once neighborhood service is restored, customers should call again if they still do not have serv-

DAMAGE As Mississippi Power crews make repairs to the electric system, it is important that customers make sure the electric facilities at their homes or businesses are in tact. If electric meter boxes or service entrance pipes on the side of a home or business are damaged, Mississippi Power cannot restore electricity. Customers are responsible for contacting a licensed electrician to have repairs made and may then call to have power restored. EVACUATED AREAS For customers living in areas evacuated due to the high water caused by the hurricane, electricity cannot be restored until official notification that the water has receded to safe levels. Restoration of electric service in those areas will begin as soon as public officials have notified Mississippi Power that the situation is DANGEROUS SITUA-TIONS It's important for all citizens to be aware of potentially dangerous situations from downed power lines. Live power lines can also be hidden and in contact with fallen trees. Even from 9am-4pm though the electricity to your home may still be off ... treat every wire as if it was energized and potentially dangerous.

PORTABLE GENERA-TORS During extended outages, some customers may use portable generators at generators correctly. Do not use an extension cord to plug a generator into a household outlet. This can cause serious injury to you and/or restoration crews. Instead, only appliances connect directly to the generator. If you have any questions about the use of a generator, please call Mississippi Power and tell the operator you need generator assis-

FOOD IN FREEZERS Most freezers will hold food for three days if the door has not been opened. Do not open a freezer door to see if the foods are thawing during this time. If your power is not back on by the third day, make arrangements to place dry ice in the freezer or take foods to an operating freezer. If foods have thawed, they can be refrozen if the food isn't warmer than normal refrigerator temperature. Otherwise, proceed with caution. If food smells bad or is slippery, do not eat it. # Bobby Vinton brings 'Blue Velvet' to Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO illboard Magazine has called Bobby Vinton "the alltime most successful love singer of the rock-era."

Vinton takes the stage at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Friday & Saturday, July 18 & 19 at 9 p.m. Tickets are $19.95, $24.95 & $29.95 and are on sale at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, or at any Ticketmaster location.

His is a name that has been synonymous with superstardom, a true survivor and today he continues to enjoy success as a top-rated performer. His impressive list of hits includes renowned love songs such as "Roses Are Red," "Blue Velvet," and "Mr. Lonely.'

His songs are recognized as standards throughout the world and his music has retained its vitality and relevance through our changing times. Vinton's hit-making capability was again evidenced with the release of "My Melody of Love," when it became the number one song in the nation and was embraced by Polish Americans around the country as their new national anthem.

As a result of these and many more hits, he was awarded over a dozen gold records and albums during his career and has sold over 75 million records.

Over the past several years, Vinton has been honored by over one hundred national organizations and more than a dozen mayors across the United States for his unique contributions to the ethnic communities.

He was invited to Poland as a guest of the government. As a tribute to his talents and community services the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce bestowed the ultimate honor upon Vinton--a bronze star on the world famous Hollywood Walk of Fame on Hollywood Boulevard. During the first ten years of the rock era, Vinton had more number one hits than any other male vocalist including Elvis Presley and Frank Sinatra, according to Billboard Magazine. The phenomenal success he experienced in the recording industry carried over to other areas of the entertainment world.

He hosted a highly rated network variety special for CBS Television and starred in two John Wayne movies: "Big Jake" and "The Train Robbers".

He also recently opened the Bobby Vinton Blue Velvet Theatre, a 1600 seat European style theatre in Branson, Missouri.

A multi-talented musician as well as a singer and actor, Vinton was born in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, a suburb of Pittsburgh, the son of a locally popular bandleader, Stan Vinton. He recently received an honorary doctoral degree in music for Duquesne University, his alma mater.

Don't miss Vinton's one show at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, Friday & Saturday, July 18 & 19. Must be 21 to attend.
